Policy Statement

The purpose and rationale underlying leaves is to enable Employees to meet their personal commitments. These include but are not restricted to medical exigencies, family and social commitments and personal time out. Employees need to keep their immediate supervisor informed in case they need to avail of unplanned leaves. In case of failure to do so within the first 3 working days of absence, the same may be considered by Management as unauthorized and unapproved leave. Unauthorized leave will result in the initiation of disciplinary process.

Leave Classification

All permanent and confirmed employees are entitled to the following types of leaves:

- Public Holiday
- Privilege Leave
- Casual Leave
- Compensatory Off
- Maternity Leave
- Paternity Leave
- Adoption Leave
- Bereavement Leave

Public Holiday

There are 10 paid holidays (festival and national holidays for India) during the calendar year. The list of these holidays is published at the beginning of each year. Out of the 10 public holidays announced, two are optional holidays. One of these is declared by the organization because of business exigencies. In case no such holiday is declared throughout the calendar year, the last working day of the year would be considered as a company declared optional holiday.

The second optional holiday is a personal holiday. This can be availed on any festival not included in the paid holiday list or can be utilized for personal events like marriage, anniversaries or birthdays. These events can cover self and immediate family members.

Privilege/Casual Leave Allotment

All full-time employees are eligible for Privilege/Casual Leave benefits during the calendar year from January to December. The Privilege/Casual Leave will be credited on a pro-rata basis as per the date of joining as appended herewith.

Casual Leave

The employee can avail of casual leave. In case the duration of the casual leave exceeds 2 working days, then the employee is required to change the casual leave to Privilege Leave once he/she joins back.

Leave Type	Casual Leave
Number of Days	8 These leaves shall accrue on a pro rata basis.
Approval	Casual Leave can be availed max upto 2 leaves only.
Combination	Casual Leave cannot be combined with other leaves
Accumulation	The casual leaves cannot be carried forward or adjusted against other leaves.
Encashment	Not permitted

Casual Leave Rules

Casual Leave or CL is granted to an eligible employee if they cannot report to work due to an unforeseen situation. Casual leave can be utilized if an eligible employee wants to take leave for two days for personal reasons, but not for a vacation. The employee should seek prior permission before availing this type of leave. Casual leaves are paid for by the employer. Some other casual leave rules include:

- In general, casual leaves can be availed for a minimum of half a day to a maximum of two days. Beyond this, leaves should be availed as privileged leaves.
- Casual leaves cannot be carried forward to the next year. According to casual leave rules, after the year ends, the casual leaves which are unused expire automatically.
- The unused casual leaves cannot be encashed like privileged leaves. They simply expire when the year ends.
- Casual leaves cannot be clubbed with privileged leaves (PL).

For new employees or for someone who has just resigned, the casual leaves are allotted proportionately. For instance, if an employee joins the company on July 1, i.e. the middle of a year, the number of casual leaves available will be half the actual leave and will be applicable till December 31, i.e., the last day of that year.

The leaves against the compensatory off/s need to be availed in a span of one month from the day of earning the compensatory off/s.

Leave Management System

To streamline the leave policy and for effective administration of leave management, every Employee needs to follow certain basic rules.

Portico is freely accessible from anywhere in world using Internet and is not dependent on a SAS network

Portico link – <https://portico.topsource.in/>

1. Employees are requested to visit the Attendance calendar at regular intervals and regularize their leaves/absenteeism.
2. Portico sends out regular weekly emails in case of absenteeism in that week which helps the employees to track their individual attendance and apply for the appropriate leaves.
3. The cut off period for Payroll/Leave/Absenteeism is 22nd of every month. Hence any period of absence during the month needs to be regularized before the 22nd of each month.
4. In cases, where employees fail to apply leave/regularize their absenteeism by the cutoff date of every month, then, all the days marked absent in that month (23rd to 22nd of every month), will be treated as Leave Without Pay (LWP).
5. Once the leave/absenteeism is regularized in the subsequent month before 22nd of month, deduction of salary will get restored during next payroll.
6. If the leave/absenteeism is not regularized by the Employee in that subsequent month, then those days will remain Leave without Pay without any restoration of lost pay.
7. The shift planners need to ensure that the weekly offs are properly assigned in Portico.

Encashment of Leave

The Employees will be permitted to only encash their Privilege Leaves.

- During their tenure in IDEaS India: Every year, up to 7 days of Privilege Leave may be encashed by the Employee. The leave encashment can be availed during the year, before proceeding for leave (equivalent number of days of leave availed till date with a maximum cap of 7 days for encashment).

Alternatively, the leave encashment can be done in the month of Dec by 15th Dec. (equivalent number of days of leave availed during the year with a maximum cap of 7 days for encashment)

- Leave Encashment during Separation: For encashment, the computation is calculated on the basis of the Basic salary drawn in the month prior to applying for encashment.

Leave Procedures

An Employee is expected to follow the following procedure to avail leaves:

- Employee applies to the manager for the leave specifying the type of leave to be availed.
- In case of emergencies, the Employee shall inform the immediate manager
- Manager has right to approve or reject the leave based on the business need.
- The leave record of the Employee gets updated in Portico.
